From: Chief, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery
To: Navy Medical Corps Officers
Subj: NAVY MEDICAL CORPS CAREER DEVELOPMENT BOARD PROGRAM

1. Purpose. To provide guidance for the management and execution of the Medical Corps (MC) Officer Career Development Board (CDB) program.

2. Applicability. This applies to all active duty MC officers.

3. Background. The objective of the MC CDB program is to afford MC officers an opportunity to receive guidance to make better informed career decisions. The goal of the MC CDB program is to assist members in effectively managing their careers, setting achievable goals and meeting key milestones.

4. Policy

a. All MC officers in the rank of Lieutenant through Commander assigned to a Budget Submitting Office (BSO)-18 commands (except those in their internship year of training) will have at least one CDB per assignment. MC officers in their internship year of training will have mentoring during their internship that addresses many of the same aspects of CDBs. Mentoring of interns can be combined with other internship program required activities. MC officers in residency/fellowship training will have at least one CDB during their residency/fellowship training period.

b. All MC officers in the rank of Lieutenant through Commander assigned to non-BSO-18 commands will have at least one CDB per assignment. This may be accomplished by requesting a CDB with senior MC officers at the Headquarters (HQ), Type Command level, Navy Medicine Readiness Training Command (NMRTC) or at a Military Treatment Facility (MTF) either in person, via teleconference or using video technology such as Skype or FaceTime.

c. Captains are highly encouraged to have at least one CDB per assignment.

d. Any MC officer may request a CDB at any time by contacting the Command MC CDB Coordinator. Key events that may lead to a request for a CDB include preparing for a selection board, applying for additional training, applying for a milestone billet or failure of selection for promotion.

Your Record

CUI

Ensure your record reflect how awesome you are

Review once a year so you have time to update information

Found on BOL <https://www.bol.navy.mil/>

OSR – Officer Summary Record

- Ensure all highlighted blocks are accurate

PSR – Performance Summary Report

- Ensure there are no gaps

ODC – Officer Data Card

- Ensure your security clearance is up to date

“When am I in zone?” The typical promotion flow points for MC officers have been 5 FYs after promotion to the last rank.

So, if one were promoted to LCDR in FY 14, then you would be in zone for the Board that convenes in FY19 for FY20 promotion.

Common OSR Omissions

Subspecialty – identifies that you are Board Certified or not: anything you are board certified for should end in the letter “K.” If it ends in a “J” it means you are trained but not board certified and if it ends in a “T” it means you are in training for that specialty, like a residency or fellowship program. Currently Mr. Tony Frabutt (anthony.w.frabutt.civ@health.mil) at BUMED is the person who updates subspecialty codes. Send him a copy of your board certificates and he will update your code to “K.”

Undergraduate school and Medical School

Service schools – should include C4 (this one does). Others include AMDOC, Int Leadership, MedXcellence, and so on. Updated service schools demonstrate your continued interest in Navy Medicine.

These are “AQDs” and should include the fact that you are a staff, not just an intern (e.g. Internist, Gen Surgeon). If you are fellowship trained it should also be reflected here. Note that even though you may be listed as a “staff” physician, your SUB SPEC code may not reflect this.

Awards:
See the “Personal Awards” section of the Officer Record Management document.

Academic Degrees

- To add academic degrees to the ODC/OSR, refer to the Education Codes in Appendix D of NAVPERS 15839I, Volume II. This appendix shows a listing of institution (college/university) abbreviations, major fields of study, etc.
- To have your formal education updated, you have TWO options –
 - 1) Sealed OFFICAL transcripts directly from the university can be sent to:

NAVY PERSONNEL COMMAND
MNCC
BLDG 768 RM E302
5720 INTEGRITY DRIVE
MILLINGTON, TN 38055

- 2) They can also be delivered electronically (as long as the school uses a secure delivery system such as eScript/Parchment) to askmncc.fct@navy.mil.
 - If using electronic method select “Education Organization, Application Service and Scholarships”, “Department of the Navy” and “Navy Personnel Command” in the drop-down menus of the recipient details section. Selecting other options may result in failure to deliver transcripts electronically.
- If you note duplicate degrees on your OSR, you can correct them by contacting My Navy Career Center at askmncc@navy.mil or by phone at 1-833-330-6622.
- It is recommended that any record update completed within 1 month of your board convening date should also be followed up with a letter to the board with the same information.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2023

Audience, Curriculum & Nomination Process

The Quality and Safety Leadership Academy (QSLA) is a robust training program established to provide Navy Medicine leaders with the understanding and essential resources to accelerate Navy Medicine's High Reliability Organization (HRO) journey. Inaugurated in 2017, QSLA has been instrumental in informing Navy Medicine's efforts to support quality, safety, and readiness within operational and traditional healthcare environments through HRO.

Overview

QSLA FY23 will feature improvements to enhance the overall Scholar experience from Kick-Off to program conclusion.

- Two Hybrid Regional Cohorts will be hosted throughout the year, the first of which will commence in March 2023, and the second beginning in June 2023
- Both Cohorts will feature a week-long in-person Kick-Off in regional locations to provide opportunities for Scholars to effectively engage and collaborate with peers and program facilitators

Audience

QSLA is intended for personnel from all Corps who are interested in leadership roles related to quality, safety, and readiness. Approximately 40 Scholars will be selected for each of the two Cohorts currently planned for FY23 totaling 80 estimated QSLA graduates.

For the previous Cohort, over 130 people were nominated from both Military Treatment Facilities (MTF) and operational medicine settings. Scholars have historically been ranked O-4 to O-6 or E-8 to E-9. Personnel at all levels with relevant qualifications may be considered.

Curriculum

QSLA FY23 will begin with a week-long in-person Kick-Off covering a variety of HRO principles and their applications in both traditional and operational settings. During the Kick-Off, Scholars will participate in interactive Table-Top Exercises (TTXs) allowing them to navigate real-life patient safety scenarios in a collaborative environment. Following Kick-Off, Scholars will participate in several Virtual Classrooms (VCs) covering various quality and safety topics and facilitated by HRO Leaders. Practicums and online discussions will be included to ensure Scholars communicate with peers during the virtual portion of programming. Scholars are expected to attend the full Kick-Off, 80% of the VCs, and participate in session practicums and online discussion boards.

Scholar Nominations

The nomination process will begin in OCT 2022 and future Scholars will be notified of the selections in NOV 2022. Although two Cohorts are planned for next year, there will be one nomination process which will serve for both Cohorts of the program. Future Scholars applying to the program can indicate their Cohort preference on the application, which is included as a link below. If you are interested in attending the program or plan to nominate a fellow HRO leader, please use the link below to submit your application for QSLA and indicate your preferred Cohort.

A WORD ABOUT JPME

- BLUF:

- Important educational component for advancement
- Completing doesn't guarantee your promotion or desired next billet
 - Should be considered for any career minded Navy Physician

- BACKGROUND:

- Familiarize participants with the concepts and tools used to enhance interservice cooperation
- Military specific curriculum with little medical content
- Must be at least selected to O-4

- SITUATION:

- Naval Officers can enroll in any War College

MOST RECENT UPDATES:

CUI

1. Naval War College- NWC increased their DL enrollment to 200 students/quarter and are actively working through their backlog. The waitlist is currently 41 weeks and decreasing. The learning plan is asynchronous and can be completed in around one year. Apply for the DL program at https://cmsweb.usnwc.edu/forms/gen_cf/inq_app_exec_screen.cfm?scor_id=1AF81742371052415F2FF9EC221915EE. The fleet seminar program is held at 18 sites across the US and may be preferable for some learners, including research, writing and class discussion. It requires attendance and takes at least 2 years to complete, but usually takes three. <https://usnwc.edu/college-of-distance-education/Fleet-Seminar-Program>
2. Air University (USAF War College)- There is presently no waitlist for JPME. An aggressive student can get through the curriculum in 1 year, though two years is more typical. You can enroll for up to 5 years. The learning program is all asynchronous with some instructor-facilitated courses, asynchronous discussions and written assignments with due dates. To enroll, go to the Air University Staff College link <https://www.airuniversity.af.edu/eSchool/ACSC/> and follow the instructions under “eligibility and enrollment” (must be CAC enabled).
3. USMC War College- The Marine Corps uses regional offices for both seminar and DL enrollment in Marine Corps centers (LeJeune, Pendleton, Fort Worth, Hawaii, Miramar, Okinawa, Pensacola, Quantico). USMC Officers get priority, and availability is variable. Contact your local regional center for inquiries <https://www.usmcu.edu/CDET/contact-regions/>
4. Army War College- These requests must go through Navy Personnel Command and is a fairly narrow aperture, only accepting a handful of students. Opportunities are limited but can certainly be explored.

CONVENING ORDER

PRECEPT

d. Additional Considerations. The following are additional considerations in determining the best qualified officers:

(1) Competence. In addition to proven and sustained superior performance in command or other leadership positions, competence also includes the following attributes:

(a) Commitment to Operational Excellence. Because Mission One for every officer is the operational readiness of our Navy, the best qualified officers will demonstrate an unrelenting commitment to operational excellence. This commitment will be evidenced by mastery of the skills critical to naval warfare. The Navy values service and superior performance on operational fleet and subordinate command staffs.

(b) Continual Performance Improvement. This attribute includes the use of data-driven insights and a clear embrace of a "perform to plan" mindset. It also includes evidence of instilling a culture of learning behavior in peers and subordinates and an openness to meaningful feedback.

(c) Education and Professional Development. The board will actively seek those officers whose records reflect operational excellence and increasing education, and exposure to strategic concepts. Strategic competition demands leaders who possess the ability to outfight and outthink the adversary.

Board Preparation Checklist

- ☐ Review your Officer Data Card (ODC), Officer Summary Record (OSR) and Performance Summary Record (PSR):
- ☐ Picture
 - ☐ "MILPERSMAN 1070-180" instruction on how to submit photograph → <https://www.mynavyhr.navy.mil/Career-Management/Detailing/Officer/EOD/Official-Photo/>
- ☐ Additional Qualification Designation (AQDs) → Identify special skills required by a billet; identify a qualification awarded for serving in a specialty coded billet. Tools used by Navy Personnel Command (PERS) to assign billets. Seen on OSR and is entered by detailers. Contact detailer via phone or email.
- ☐ Education → Ensure all educational degrees are present on OSR and are accurate. To update, sealed official transcripts directly from university must be sent to:
 - Navy Personnel Command, MNCC, Building 768 Rm E302, 5720 Integrity Dr., Millington, TN 38055-4500 or electronic submission to askmncc.fct@navy.mil.
- ☐ Certifications/subspecialty codes (board certifications) → Found on your OSR under education. K = Board certified; J = trained but not board certified; T = in training for that specialty. To fix or change these email → anthony.w.frabutt.civ@health.mil or call 703-681-9240.
- ☐ Service Schools → Send course completion certificates via askmncc@navy.mil.
- ☐ Awards → check OSR for accuracy of awards. The Navy Department Awards Web Services (NDAWS) <https://www.mynavyhr.navy.mil/Career-Management/Records-Management/Decorations-and-Medals/> is the database for awards. If not accurate, work with local command's NDAWS coordinator.
- ☐ Report Continuity → ensure accuracy on PSR. Make sure no gaps especially of the last 5 years of fitreps. Gaps of 1-14 days not a big deal, start worrying at 21+ days. If gaps or errors, contact My Navy Career Center at askmncc@navy.mil or 1-833-330-MNCC (1-833-330-6622). Don't wait until in zone to fix.
- ☐ If something is missing, submit a letter to the board with the missing/correct document(s) as an enclosure(s).
